Personal

Kitty (nee Boggis) is a professional rider based near Chippenham. In 2005 after selection for the British team to contest the European Championships at Blenheim Kitty became the first rider to have represented Great Britain at Pony, Junior, Young Rider and Senior levels.

In 1998 she was a member of the British pony team (Red Alert) winning team silver, 2000 a member of the Junior team (Leading Edge) that won team silver, 2002 a member of the British Young Rider team with former racehorse Five Boys winning another team silver. In 2003 the combination won the Young Rider championship title at Bramham and won Young Rider team gold at Bialy Bor. Kitty has been a member of the World Class Start and Potential programmes that provide support and training for talented riders.

In 2008 she acquired Boondoggle, a new Zealand Thoroughbred formerly ridden and owned by New Zealander Tim Price and the combination was 32nd at Badminton last year after a clear round XC.

Kitty comes from a talented sporting family. Her mother Jane competed at Badminton and Burghley, sister Charlotte has played Rugby for England and sister Lucy has represented Britain in athletics.

Last December Kitty married former National Hunt jockey Ben King.
